Emerging New Paradigms: A Guide To Fundamental Change In Local Public Transportation Organizations

Robert G Stanley United States Transit Cooperative Research Program Transit Development Corporation National Research Council U.S.

Transportation Patterns and Problems of People with Disabilities. and 97, “Emerging New Paradigms: A Guide to Fundamental Change in Local Public Transportation Organizations,” Project J-08B. Introduction. Today's rapidly changing society, with the increased focus on accessibility and transportation needs of people with disabilities, has led to the need for fundamental change in local public transportation organizations. The National Organization on Disability (NOD) has been a driving force in this area. Over the last two decades, NOD has been at the forefront of policy debates over the local transportation needs of these travelers. 