Foundations Of Psychological Thought: A History Of Psychology

Barbara F Gentile Benjamin Miller

This module describes the biological, psychological, social and cognitive processes through which behaviour, thought and feelings are acquired and developed. It will introduce the historical evolution of Social and Development Psychology.