When Iris moves reluctantly to the country from her home in the big city, she finds a friend in Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play. When Iris returns to the apartment to the country, she cannot find anything to do until she makes a new friend, Walter. Told in four lines, she becomes ill the day of the play.