The Haunting of Sunshine Girl The Haunting is a 1963 British psychological horror film directed and produced by Robert Wise and adapted by Nelson Gidding from the 1959 novel The Haunting of Hill House. The film stars Julie Harris, Claire Bloom, Richard Johnson, Russ Tamblyn, and Owen Wilson. The story follows a group of scientists who come to investigate a haunted house in New England, only to find that the house has a life of its own. The film is known for its atmospheric shots of the house and its chilling scenes of terror. The Haunting has been remade several times, including a 1999 version starring Liam Neeson and Catherine Zeta-Jones. Despite the changes in casts and settings, The Haunting remains one of the most highly regarded haunted house films ever produced, and is considered a classic of the horror genre.
